The American Galvanizers Association and International Zinc Association Announce the Release of an Online Galvanized Rebar Resource Center and Galvanized Rebar Brochure

CENTENNIAL, CO – The American Galvanizers Association (AGA) and the International Zinc Association (IZA) recently released an online Galvanized Rebar Resource Center at <http://www.galvanizedrebar.com>. In conjunction with the website, the associations also released a comprehensive hot-dip galvanized rebar brochure.

The website is a complete resource center providing construction engineers and architects with relevant information on the properties and performance of hot-dip galvanized reinforcing steel. The resource center contains technical information about galvanized rebar in the following areas: performance, field handling, cost, inspection, specification guidelines, frequently asked questions, case histories, and global contact information.

The 10-page galvanized rebar brochure entitled, “Hot-Dip Galvanized Steel: A Concrete Investment,” describes hot dip galvanized rebar and how it performs in concrete. The brochure also features examples of a variety of concrete structures world-wide that are constructed using hot-dip galvanized reinforcing steel. For your free copy, contact the AGA’s Jed Rosenberg at 720-554-0900 x15 or jrosenberg@galvanizeit.org

Founded in 1935, the AGA is a nonprofit trade association dedicated to serving the needs of fabricators, architects, specifiers, and engineers, providing technical support on today’s innovative applications and state-of-the-art technological developments in hot-dip galvanizing for corrosion control.
